

American Center Presents Public Lecture

THE INTERNET POLICY IN US POLITICS

Speaker: Michael Silberman

Michael Silberman is the Global Director of Digital Innovation at Greenpeace www.greenpeace.org. He leads a digital mobilization lab that works with Greenpeace and its allies in 42 countries to envision, test, and roll out creative new means of communicating, organizing, and fundraising online.

A senior online campaigns strategist, Silberman specializes in online organizing and grassroots citizen engagement. He is a frequent writer and speaker on the effective use of technology for converting online activity into real-world action. Silberman chairs the Web of Change www.webofchange.com conference, the premier annual gathering for leading thinkers and campaigners at the intersection of technology and social change.
